

COL. ROOSEVELT HAS QUIET DAY

ATTENDED CHURCH WITH AM-BASSADOR BACON YESTER-DAY MORNING.

TOOK AUTOMOBILE RIDE

Lunched With Ambassador Jusserand in Afternoon—What the French Newspapers Say
About Roosevelt.

Paris, April 24.—Roosevelt passed a comparatively quiet Sunday. Accompanied by Ambassador Bacon in the morning he attended an American church.

All lunched with Ambassador and Mme. Jusserand. In the afternoon there was an automobile ride, and Roosevelt visited the chateau of Henri IV. Roosevelt did not visit the voting booths, though a general election was held today.

Tomorrow Roosevelt will be the guest of the municipality of Paris. The city fathers will receive him at the hotel de Ville, where a luncheon will be served. In the evening he will dine with General Brugere and go to the opera. Salome was the bill, but by Roosevelt's wish "Sampson and Delilah" was substituted.

At the close of Roosevelt's lecture in Sorbonne yesterday, a person in the gallery hissed, but this was unnoticed in the applause. It was an Egyptian who explained that he desired to protest against the speech of Roosevelt at Cairo. The Sorbonne lecture has created a tremendous impression. The newspapers, in spite of the election news, devoted an immense amount of space to it and Roosevelt's doings.

With the exception of some mocking criticism by free lances, such as Henri Rochefort, editor of Le Petit, and Ernest Judet, of the Eclair, papers of all shades of opinion ring out in approval of the doctrines of civic morality expounded by Roosevelt. Some ultra-Catholic organs are silent. The Temps appeals to France to take the "advice of an honest man whose deeds and life during the last 30 years qualify him to speak."

The Journal des Debats, says:

"Our great democracies are experiments. From the beginning they have leaned toward corruption. Roosevelt's simple and energetic language is like that of Hercules, armed not with a club, but a broom, at the door of the Augean stable."

The Paris Journal says:

"No nobler lesson of civic duty ever fell from human lips."

BRITISH PRESS COMMENTS.

London, April 24.—Roosevelt's Sorbonne address is printed in many British newspapers and is the subject of much editorial comment.

The Chronicle says:

"He is not a subtle thinker, but he knows that the majority of mankind like to hear eternal verities thrust at them through a megaphone. He knows also that his preachings, if universally practiced, would mean a regeneration of the world, and a large part of the effect they produce comes from the knowledge that Roosevelt does practice what he preaches, and that the qualities he recommends he has himself displayed before all men's eyes with astounding results."

GROWTH OF THE TRUSTS

Said American Laborer Should Be Protected from the Cheap Immigrant Laborer—Praise for Roosevelt.

New York, April 24.—"For a long life, abounding in good things, in a capacity for enjoying everything, in reciprocal attachments and contributions with multitudes of men and women, in more than my share of health and of happiness, I reverently thank God both that I am alive and that I have lived," was Senator Chauncey M. Depew's estimate of what the world had all amounted to in his life. The senator was speaking at the nineteenth annual dinner given him by the Montauk club of Brooklyn in celebration of his seventy-sixth birthday last night. Senator Depew, apparently, is as hale and hearty as ever.

Speaking of the growth of the trusts, he said he believed in government control, not ownership. He said the present high prices are not due to national extravagance. He said the American workmen received double the wage of the workers of other countries, but the government had not yet protected him against the competition of the immigrant laborers, who will work so cheaply. He said the most beneficent exchanges that had occurred in his time have been laws granting rights to women. He favors female suffrage.

Concluding, he said: "It is a glorious thing for any people to have thrills of enthusiasm. I think all of us, no matter what our views of him may be, no matter how much we differ with him in opinion, no matter how much he may have antagonized some of us by his actions, feel prouder of the product of American liberty and opportunity, because the eye of the world is just now filled to the exclusion of all other men, by the virile figure of Roosevelt."

INDIANA POLITICS IN LIMELIGHT

BRYAN WRITES TO GOVERNOR
MARSHALL—DEMOCRATS MAY ENDORSE SENATORIAL CANDIDATE SOON.

Indianapolis, April 24.—New interest was added to the fight that Governor Thomas R. Marshall and other leaders of the democratic party in Indiana are making to have the party's state convention next week endorse a candidate for the United States senate when it was learned that William J. Bryan had written a letter to Governor Marshall congratulating him on his efforts to have the convention take such action.

"The popular election of senators has been endorsed by the last three democratic national conventions," says Mr. Bryan in his letter, "and the nomination of a republican candidate in Indiana makes it even more imperative that our party shall meet the issue solidly with a clean cut platform and a strong candidate."

The opposition to the convention endorsing a candidate for the senate is being led by Thomas Taggart, former chairman of the democratic national committee, who is a candidate, and this question overshadows all others. The convention promises to be one of the most hotly contested ever held in the state.

MORE COLD AND SNOW PROMISED

UNPRECEDENTED COLD WEATH-ER FOR LATE APRIL
SWEEPS COUNTRY.

STILL THERE IS HOPE

Change of Wind Expected to Mitigate Crop Damage in Middle West—
Fruit Crop Will Be Only Half.

Chicago, April 24.—Despite the almost unprecedented storm that swept over a dozen states in the last 48 hours and the government prediction of more cold and snow, the shifting of the wind to northeast promises to mitigate the extensive crop damage in the middle west.

A canvass of the situation shows the greatest damage resulted in Iowa, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. Greatly reduced fruit crops and loss of early corn is certain. Reports from the northwest indicate that barley, oats, rye and corn were badly damaged by the cold. The soil is still in fine condition for plowing. It is not too late for re-seeding.

In Kansas, Missouri and Kentucky the snow is expected to protect small fruits and lessen the loss of apples.

In Mississippi, Tennessee, Oklahoma and Arkansas reports show that

Death of John West, The Tamala
Man, Saturday Night.

MINERS CRUCIFY AN ALLEGED SPY

VICTIM WAS TWICE BOUND TO CROSS AND WILL PROBABLY DIE.

FOUR ARRESTS FOLLOW

Crown of Thorns Placed on Accused
Foreign Miner Suggests Excruciating Method of Torture.

Washington, Pa., April 24.—George Rabish, a foreign coal miner, is in a critical condition today as a result of an outrage perpetrated upon him yesterday by a crowd of drunken countrymen, who twice crucified their victim after crawling him with thorns. Four men are under arrest as a result of the outrage, and private and public officers are scouring the country for others implicated. Rabish incurred the enmity of others employed at the Avella mines of the Pittsburgh and Washington Coal Company, ten miles northwest of here.

It is claimed he was acting as a company spy and had reported several miners for breaches of the mining rules. He was ordered to leave town and refused. Yesterday a crowd of carousing miners dragged him from his boarding house to the edge of the mining hamlet. One powerful foreigner plaited a crown of thorns and thrust it upon the terrified man. This suggested crucifixion, and Rabish was bound to a hastily constructed cross, which was planted in a hole dug by other members of the party. Rabish's arms and legs were bound securely to the cross, and while he begged piteously to be released, his tormentors reviled and taunted him and hurled stones at him.

Supt. C. E. Nelson was notified and sent Rabish. Four of the ringleaders were arrested and at an immediate hearing before Justice W. W. Cinnaman were heavily fined. The punishment, however, did not have the desired effect, for soon afterward word was carried to Nelson that Rabish had again been hanged upon the cross. He was rescued by officers this time in an exhausted condition, and four men were arrested and placed in the Avella lock-up. Others, alarmed at the determined air of the officers fled and are thought to be concealed somewhere in the vicinity.

English speaking residents of the district, headed by General Manager Vm. Boggs, of the coal company and local officers, have been unable, after an all day search to locate any of the others. The American residents are greatly aroused and are demanding immediate prosecution of the offenders.

PROHIBITION IN 3 STATES FAILS

CHAFIN COMMENTS ON TENNESSEE, MISSISSIPPI AND ALABAMA—THINKS PATTERSON WILL BE RE-ELECTED.

New Orleans, La., Apr. 24.—Eugene W. Chafin, presidential candidate on the prohibition ticket two years ago, and now making a tour of the Southern states with the idea of developing prohibition candidates for congress for the approaching congressional election, is not like other political leaders while handling big problems. Instead of predicting success and depicting the growing wave of prohibition, he takes a rather different view of the situation; predicts the election of Governor Patterson in Tennessee because of his stand on the liquor question, and says further that state-wide prohibition in Tennessee, Mississippi and Alabama has proven to be a dismal failure.

He declared that this failure was the result of interstate shipments of liquor, and as long as this was permitted by the interstate commerce commission, he saw no relief from the situation until congress acted. That was why he and his friends were directing their attention to congress now. They hoped to elect a few members, and with that nucleus they might accomplish something.

Mr. Chafin was accompanied by Charles R. Jones of Chicago, and they conferred with local lights in the party today. Tomorrow Mr. Chafin will deliver two addresses.

TRY TO PROVE A CONSPIRACY

BALLINGER'S ATTORNEY'S THINK
PINCHOT TRIED TO OVER-THROW SECRETARY.

FURTHER REVELATIONS

Promised by Brandeis Regarding Wickersham's Summary of Glavis
Charges, Which He Attacked Friday.

Washington, April 24.—An effort was made by the "defense" in the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation yesterday to show that Gifford Pinchot and his associates had conspired to overthrow Secretary Ballinger because he opposed "Pinchot's way of conserving."

Attorney Brandeis, for the prosecution, promised the newspaper men some further revelations regarding the attorney general's summary of Glavis' charges, which he intimated yesterday had been written two months after the date it bore.

George Otis Smith, director of the geological survey, occupied the stand and told of a conversation he had with Pinchot last July, during which the latter, he said, characterized Ballinger as a "yellow dog," and to have threatened to lead a fight against the secretary if there was any criticism of former Secretary Garfield at the Spokane irrigation congress.

Smith told of a talk Associate Forester Overton had with Price last September, while the latter was acting forester, in which Price is alleged to have declared "We will get him (Ballinger) one way or another."

Smith said he attended the Spokane congress, where the fight was precipitated over the charge that Ballinger had allowed the "interests" to grab a large number of valuable water power sites.

Smith then read a letter he wrote to the subordinates in his office here after the Spokane convention, describing the fight. Smith wrote that although no criticism of Garfield was made, the "fight came off as planned."

He said Governor Pardee of California augmented the trouble by speaking on the "sins of Ballinger" instead of "irrigation," as scheduled. Smith wrote further:

"The attorney was there to fight Pinchot's fight. The big grab struck every hour and Pardee's insincerity made a bad impression on many delegates."

Smith fought against the charges for Ballinger and said the opposition tried to gag him with a motion to adjourn. Smith's letter said war was apparent. Pinchot and his associates sought the overthrow of Ballinger for opposing Pinchot's conservation program.
